Retreat Debrief	9:10	What worked, what can be improved on? (see hand out): Diane’s energy, Aaron’s talk. Having s many youth was great, but by the time work is due people are checked out. Small group work too short and transition too harsh. Put work up on the walls so people are walking around. Suggestion to work on: How to move personal stories to system and policy changes. How could we break down a personal story to use examples to enhance public health work. Gallery walks going piece to piece as a group. Do this before speaker and then revisit it. Prepare questions for the Q and A to help facilitate discussion and help us hone our programming. What policies can we think of that would help prevent this from happening? Where are the cracks during years of transition? Own fact that evidence based doesnt mean it works for everyone. This is all a numbers game. Start with a list of risk and protective factors, listen to talk, list what happened for them. Or egg drop idea of Tyanna!! Why do we do the retreats? Off data years it is to boost engagement. On data years it is to share out data.	Ananda
